

Factory-farmed pigs are denied any bedding and are forced to stand and lie on hard floors. Modern breeding sows are treated as piglet-making machines. The sows barely have the room to stand up and lie down, and many suffer from painful sores on their shoulders.